

Christian Lady Talkin On a Bus

Lady talkin' no one listening
People laugh and people stare
Lady said that she's a Christian
Seems nobody seem to care

Bus driver said he was a Catholic
Don't believe in god no more
Drives his bus and waits for his payday
Want a carpet on his floor

Won't you come to church on Sunday. Meet you at the big front door
Wish I knew how the story ended. But it won't ever end no more.

Lady trying to save somebody
Since she's been happy all her life
Said her husband was a preacher
She was glad to be his wife

Lady talkin' no one listening
Children think that she's a fool
Got a bible for her roadmap
Almost silly grin. Her eyes of blue
