

Pretty Penny

Well Holden won't you keep on rollin
Gonna roll that ship on in
When aunt Patty shows her face round here
She's gonna know where you been
Patty left last rainfall
Said mind the pasture while I'm gone
But I've never been down so low to say
Aunt Patty, I done you wrong

Here' a half-step holding your hands still Splintered sunlight shining your shoes
Put a penny pretty Patty down if you please
Looks like little else to lose
Holden's here having a hoedown
Down the door dancing with daylight and dew
Put a penny pretty Patty down if you please
Looks like little else to lose

I planted my seeds on Sunday
Watched the cold wind take it's toll
And when Monday done poked it's ugly head
Seems like 99 days, so I'm told
The morning eats just sat there
Cause there's a whole lot more to fear
Just peer on out of that window sill
And wipe away that tear

It didn't take much whiskey
To lay my head upon my dreams
Cause while I left my home in that old man creek
I left my life so it seems
Tell her your light burned brightly
Held your moon right over her yield
And when the moon goes down on her one stop town
You're gonna spit all over her field
